

Photos from the Quarter

This sample of photos, selected from hundreds viewed by JPS, aims to convey a sense of Palestinian life during this quarter (16 November 2017–15 February 2018).

A man in Hebron views a sign indicating the distance to Jerusalem on 5 December 2017, the day before U.S. president Donald Trump reversed U.S. foreign policy and recognized Jerusalem as the capital of Israel. (Hazem Bader/AFP/Getty Images)

In Nablus, on 22 January 2018, Palestinians protest the visit of U.S. vice president Mike Pence to Israel. Pence was scheduled to visit Bethlehem, but Palestinian officials refused to meet with him because of U.S. president Donald Trump's recognition of Jerusalem as the capital of Israel. (Jaafar Ashtiyeh/AFP/Getty Images)

Journal of Palestine Studies Vol. XLVII, No. 3 (Spring 2018), p. 122, ISSN: 0377-919X; electronic ISSN: 1533-8614. © 2018 by the Institute for Palestine Studies. All rights reserved. Please direct all requests for permission to photocopy or reproduce article content through the University of California Press's Reprints and Permissions web page, <http://www.ucpress.edu/journals.php?p=reprints>. DOI: <https://doi.org/10.1525/jps.2018.47.3.122>.

Russian president Vladimir Putin, right, shakes hands with Palestinian Authority president Mahmoud Abbas during their meeting at the Kremlin on 12 February 2018. The Palestinian leader visited Moscow to secure Putin's support after U.S. president Donald Trump outraged the Palestinians by recognizing Jerusalem as Israel's capital. (Maxim Shipenkov/AFP/Getty Images)

Ambassador Riyad Mansour, permanent observer of Palestine to the United Nations, walks to the floor of the General Assembly on 21 December 2017 in New York City shortly before member states voted overwhelmingly, 128-9 with 35 abstentions, for a resolution demanding that the United States rescind its Jerusalem declaration. (Spencer Platt/Getty Images)

Photos from the Quarter

Palestinian women in Gaza City take part in a protest on 29 January 2018 against the U.S. decision to freeze funding for UN Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA) schools. (Mohammed Abed/AFP/Getty Images)

Palestinian girls at a school run by UNRWA in Gaza City on 22 January 2018. UNRWA programs were significantly impacted by the drop in U.S. financial support that was earmarked for education and food aid. (Mahmud Hams/AFP/Getty Images)

In the West Bank town of Bethlehem, Palestinian activists disrupt a meeting between members of an official U.S. economic delegation and the chair of the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce and Industry on 30 January 2018. The protesters opposed the meeting because of the decision by the U.S. president to recognize Jerusalem as the capital of Israel. (Musa al-Shaer/AFP/Getty Images)

Palestinian protesters help a man in a wheelchair during clashes with Israeli soldiers near the border fence east of Gaza City on 22 December 2017. The demonstrations were part of continued protests throughout the West Bank and Gaza against U.S. president Trump's Jerusalem declaration. (Mohammed Abed/AFP/Getty Images)

Ahed Tamimi, 17, right, stands during her trial by an Israeli military court at Ofer Prison in the West Bank village of Beitunia on 13 February 2018. Tamimi has been detained since her arrest on 19 December 2017 for slapping and kicking an Israeli soldier, who allegedly shot her cousin in the head just an hour before the altercation. Tamimi is facing twelve charges; Israel has closed the trial to the public and the media. (Thomas Coex/AFP/Getty Images)

Bassem Tamimi, center, the father of seventeen-year-old Ahed Tamimi, waves as she arrives for the beginning of her trial by an Israeli military court at Ofer Prison on 13 February 2018. (Thomas Coex/AFP/Getty Images)

A young man sells Valentine's Day balloons in Gaza City on 14 February 2018. (Mohammed Abed/AFP/Getty Images)

A Romanian Orthodox priest baptizes a pilgrim in the Jordan River during Epiphany celebrations at the Qasr al-Yahud baptismal site near Jericho on 18 January 2018. Thousands of pilgrims participate in the annual event that marks Jesus's baptism as told in the Bible. (Menahem Kahana/AFP/Getty Images)

Photos from the Quarter

An artisan weaves a carpet in a Gaza City workshop on 16 January 2018. (Mohammed Abed/AFP/Getty Images)

Abdul Karim al-Kafarnah holds a pottery fragment from a newly discovered cemetery in the garden of his house in Bayt Hanun, in the northern Gaza Strip, on 26 January 2018. Experts say the site is part of a loculus tomb that may date from the late Roman/Byzantine era (4th–6th century C.E.). (Mohammed Abed/AFP/Getty Images)

Breaking waves at the Gaza City port during a storm on 19 January 2018. (Mohammed Abed/AFP/Getty Images)

Artist Mohammed Totah prepares to welcome the New Year with his sand creation at a Gaza City beach on 31 December 2017. (Mohammed Abed/AFP/Getty Images)